New Year's Resolution: Better Nutrition, Better Health JAN. 12, 2022 11:00AM-12:30PM

In addition to causing a few extra wrinkles, getting older also impacts metabolism and the body's ability to absorb nutrients. Because the way the body processes food changes as we age, nutrition becomes vitally important. For older adults, eating the right foods can not only improve health, but also protect against preventable diseases and enhance quality of life.
